Mission:

REDesign is a design firm that has been developed for the VR era. It is the first company of its kind to develop cities from the ground up using VR technology. REDesign uses a holistic approach that can be implemented in existing cities but that thrives when nothing is there yet.

Through its broad social media presence REDesign has a very large community of followers who are always looking for the next opportunity to engage with VR enabled services.

Vision:

To be the global leader of the VR revolution and achieve a world in which efficiency is maximized, mundane tasks are reduced.
